THE F.U.A. CONVENTION

We would like to extend our good wishes and the good wishes of the many others who realize the importance of the farm in our economy to the delegates attending the F.U.A. and F.W.U.A. Convention at Calgary.

Every business has its problems, and farming is no exception in this regard, except, perhaps, that its problems are more numerous and more difficult to solve than those in most other occupations.

Much of the farmers' difficulty arises from the coupled uncertainty of production and uncertainty of market. Just how uncertain production is was pretty well shown this summer, when the finest crop we have been favored with for many years was first badly damaged by frost and then much of it rendered a tangled and almost worthless mass by rain, snow and wind.

The market situation is almost as uncertain as the production situation. The farmers, who must undertake the expense of production sometimes months, and sometimes years before he can offer his grain or livestock or sale, cannot foresee with any degree of accuracy what his financial rewards will amount to.

If most of our businessmen were forced to work and produce under such conditions, we would find our lot much more unpleasant than it is. True, our business varies with the general level of prosperity, and the burden of uncollected or uncollectible accounts at times become so heavy as to force closing, the average businessman is able, by adjustments in stock and in staff, able to cope with a considerable variation in turnover, and still keep out of the red.

That the farmers' business has been considerably improved by his own efforts in organizing the co-operative selling of his products there can be no question. This does not mean that the co-operative purchasing agencies always pay a higher price than do others, but it does indicate that the competition that the co-operatives have created has resulted in a general improvement in marketing conditions.

The farmers, as an important economic group, can, if they wish, wield a very substantial influence in every phase of our country's welfare. Carefully prepared submissions to governments from an organization such as the F.U.A. carry no small amount of weight. The general attitude of the farming population, brought to a focus through its organization and given force through thorough organization can produce valuable fruit in the improvement of farming practices and conditions.

The farmer is everything to many small towns, and is much to all towns, large or small, located in farming areas. The towns in the Prairie Provinces have no exception. Their prosperity must increase or decrease in very close relation to the increase or decrease of the farmers' prosperity.

Linked as we are with the farmer, we must all feel a keen interest in his welfare, both as businessmen and as friends. We will watch closely and hopefully the deliberations of the convention.

OUR FUTURE IN THE BALANCE

The rapidly growing climate in the Orient is something we are all watching with no small amount of apprehension. The war has taken the turn which most of us feared it would. While the Russian Communists have not yet come out into the open, their connection with the war, and their influence is being felt more directly than ever before, as under their urging, 500,000 Chinese step into the ring, and start to push back the United Nations forces. Just how many more 500,000's are being prepared to get into the scrap as circumstances indicate to the Bolsheviks is desirable, we haven't the faintest notion... but we are confident that the present forces are but a token of what can, and undoubtedly will be put into the field. If Stalin feels that his honor or the honor of Communism is at stake.

The deliberations of Prime Minister Attlee and President Truman will be watched with closest attention.

THEY FLY OVER THE POLE

Last week's issue of Life magazine carried a picture which bore all the aspects of a piece of grain leather. The text informed us that this was actually a picture of the area in which the North Pole is located. It was taken from a plane which was on an every-other-day flight over the territory.

This photo underlines the tremendous progress which has been made in this age about as well as anything we have ever seen. That barren area of snow and ice, hidden for half the year by the arctic night, a terribly isolated and uninhabitable spot has over the past few hundred years been a goal valued more than life to many an intrepid explorer. Many are the bones that have bleached in the barren arctic regions as one pioneer after another has fought the horrible odds of the endless northern winter.

And now regular weather flight incur no great inconvenience, and are made in comparative comfort and safety.

WAINWRIGHT LIBRARY SHORT

It was just about twelve months ago that we made an appeal similar to this one. Again the Wainwright Public Library finds itself short on collections. The library is entitled to a grant from the government of $1 for every dollar contributed up to a certain amount. Donations to date, while they have been substantial, have not reached the desired level. The Library Association committee would greatly appreciate any further donations that can be made before Christmas.

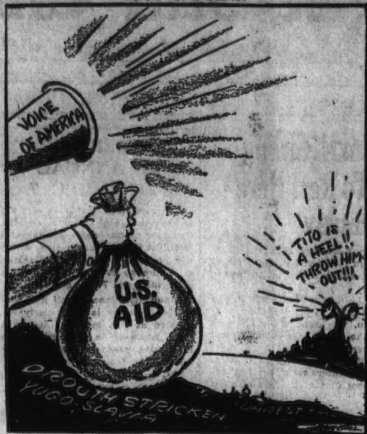

If you feel that the library serves a useful purpose, and you would like to assist it in its work your donation will help materially. And remember, every dollar you give is worth two.

Joe Rutledge Says

By Joseph Lister Rutledge

The "Gimme" Age

This has become the age of "gimme", in which most issues are subordinated to the overwhelming importance of the hand-out. It has come to be that right and justice and integrity and intelligence must give way before the expanding demands of this group and that. Bit by bit, we are watching the deterioration of people whose great traditions have been independence and self-respect. But sadder than that is the fact that we are all active participants in the change. We must say "yes" to every instant demand; offering in return for political advantage generous slices of that mythical pie from the sky. Anyone who stands up to protest that there is an end to all benevolence, and that end is where benevolence paralyzes the abilities and integrity of a people, is derided as a reactionary. But, thinking soberly, we know that we can't have everything we want. We know we can't provide cradle to grave security, minimum work hours, soaring wages and endless feather-bedding, both political and social. Still we promise it, hoping that some miracle will save us. What happened to some of the promises already made? Nothing. They did not materialize, that is all. The advantage gained, they were forgotten, or the failure was blamed on someone else.

The sad point of all this is not so much that we have failed in some impossible benefactions. It is that we have come to believe that the great man, the great organization, the great government, is the one that would promise the most. Years ago the soldiers who gathered about the Italian patriot Garibaldi shouted at him: "What will you give us if we follow you?" "The great leader faced them, sternly. "I'll give you wounds and sickness and suffering and death. But I'll give you, with them, the freedom of Italy." But we— we offer nothing but the full stomach, the lax muscles, the stiffed heart. We have nothing to offer to the mind and the spirit that once led men to achievement; nothing to support the belief that any sacrifice is worth while that leaves us free, standing on our own feet, thinking our own thoughts and obligated to no one but ourselves. We talk of "the good life." But what we mean is the ample life—more free benefits, more free time, more free protection. And for what? That there may be better men and women, better education, better hearts, better homes? Nothing of the kind. Just material things. Not a word about wounds and suffering and the achievement of freedom. Only the slow attrition of hunger satisfied without effort, of security achieved without sacrifice, of production at the sweat of no man's brow. That was not the way that any country was born. That is not the way any free country survives.

Letters To The Editor

Edgerton, Alberta,
Nov. 30th, 1950.
Editor, Wainwright Star,
Wainwright, Alberta.

Dear Mr. Editor:
There seems to be considerable discussion going on in the press regarding monopolies and their harmful effect on consumers. At present the bread combine is under fire and not long ago the glass boys pleaded guilty and were gently slapped on the wrist. In fact it is generally recognized that any monopoly works towards a higher cost of living for us long suffering consumers. The strange thing is that the most disastrous monopoly from the consumer's point of view has been entirely overlooked. I am referring to the Trade Union monopoly which has gradually gained strength during the last hundred years that it is in absolute control today.

Take our recent railway strike as a case in point. The railway employees felt they needed more money to meet the climbing cost of living—a feeling which we consumers were experiencing as well. They go on strike to secure their demands with the result that practically every one of us in Canada was adversely affected. Their demands were partially met and the final outcome is under discussion.

This simply means that the members of this Trade Union have held up the rest of us for their increased pay as freight rates will receive a boost to meet their demands. It has been pointed out again and again that every increase in pay received by the members of any Trade Union results in higher prices for the products of that particular industry. This spiral of increasing prices has resulted in the present high cost of living. Our economists call it inflation but I am going to show this is not the proper name for it.

The result of higher prices is that more money is required for the consumer to pay for his needs. This increased money is supplied by another monopoly by the name of the banker's monopoly.

Has anybody heard of the members of the Bankers Monopoly shedding tears of grief over the call made upon them to supply this new money at a fairly good interest?

Now these two monopolies—Trades Union and Bankers have worked together in such a friendly way for so long that they are the direct cause of our present mess of inflation.

Now I have not any objection to any worker dissatisfied with his job, quitting it. But I do object to what is now a legal right, his right to a monopoly of his job.

Today we seem to have entirely over (Continued on Page 6)

A new view of price controls was presented to Canadians this week by Kenneth Taylor, the man who used to be deputy chief of the wartime price control set-up.

Mr. Taylor, now assistant deputy minister of finance, told the Ottawa branch of the Canadian Association of Consumers that unfettered and flexible prices are a "Good Thing."

"Rigid price controls destroy this extremely useful barometer of supply and demand," said Mr. Taylor, admitting at the same time that excessive price fluctuations would do much damage to the country's economic and social structure.

What Mr. Taylor said was not new in practice—the government has been practicing it ever since it cleared off the wartime price controls in its post-war policy of "gradual decontrol." It brought about what have been described by government officials as "anti-inflationary measures."

These measures—such as freezing the dollar, cutting credit and similar indirect moves—were defended by Mr. Taylor in his Ottawa speech.

The way to halt excessive fluctuation of prices, he said is not by price control but by controlling the factors behind price behaviour—money, and credit, "by wise taxation and spending policies and by a variety of other means that go to the root causes of inflation and deflation."

Behaviour of prices, he said, is the outward symptom of a condition, "and as one does not cure a fever by fixing the thermometer, so the cure for inflation or deflation must be directed at the cause rather than at the effect." He was hopeful that in future, governments "supported by an enlightened and informed public opinion will be able to do a much better job of moderating those wide fluctuations in prices."

The wise policies are not always popular in the short run—that is why in a democracy we stand in so great need of an enlightened and informed public opinion.

Storing Vegetables For Winter

The essential points in the successful storage of vegetables are a favorable temperature, good ventilation and a sound well matured crop.

The proper storage temperature varies somewhat for the different vegetables but generally speaking it should be low enough to prevent growth of the vegetables and also the fungi and bacteria which may cause decay. Root crops and cabbage keep best between 34 degrees and 40 degrees and will stand a slight amount of dampness. Pumpkin, squash and onions should be stored in a dry place and will keep well at temperatures up to 45 degrees.

Free circulation of air is essential to carry off the accumulated moisture given off by the stored vegetables. Ventilation should be left open as long as possible during early winter.

Only sound, well matured vegetables should be expected to keep well in storage.

The use of fine sand will aid materially in the successful storage of such roots as beets, carrots and parsnips. If the storage cellar is inclined to be damp, dry sand should be used, but if the storage room is dry, very slightly dampened sand should be used.

If only a small quantity of cabbage is to be stored they can be suspended by the roots. If the quantity is large they can be piled preferably on slatted shelves. Some of the outer leaves should be left on to prevent the heads from touching.

Turnips (Swedes) can be piled in bulk like potatoes or may be stored in soil. Onions should be thoroughly dried before being stored in a dry place.

VISCOUNT ALEXANDER IS HOST TO KING

The governor-general's box at the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto, was a fitting place for his royal highness, the King of Wheat, Ricky Sharpe of Munson, Alta. So Ricky viewed the proceedings of the fair as guest of Viscount Alexander.

Pumpkin, squash and vegetable marrow should have the stems left on and require a dry location.

TOO GENEROUS WITH GERMS

Plenty of fresh air and outdoor exercise, wisely chosen food and dry-shed feet will help you to avoid colds provided you also avoid the other person who coughs and sneezes without covering his nose and mouth with a disposable tissue. If he is negligent, protect yourself by covering your nose and mouth while he is distributing cold germs.

One night we had a young newlywed couple over to play bridge. During the evening the girl overdid every hand so that they went down considerably each time. Finally the long-suffering groom said, "Honey, don't you think you're overbidding your hands?"

The young bride shook her head confidently. "No, dear, I'm sure to get a hand to match my bidding soon."

COD FISH WASTE

(has that got you wondering "what about cod fish waste?"). Cod fish waste makes synthetic egg white. In Norway a chemical process has been developed which can produce 100,000 hens daily by transforming cod fish waste into synthetic egg white. One pound of the artificial product is said to be equivalent to the egg white contained in 150 hens' eggs. To make one pound requires 11 pounds of waste from the cod fish industry. The synthetic product contains 80 to 90% pure protein and can be used for baking, pharmaceutical products and for industrial products. Wonders never do cease, do they?

FOR CHURCH AND CLUB

community kitchens I have received an article on suggestions for planning the kitchens. It seems to me that all too often the carpenters are allowed to go ahead and build a kitchen. Then when the ladies come to use it they are felling over one another and have to do a great deal more walking and work than if the kitchen were well-planned. A woman should have a hand in planning the kitchen I think, because she knows the steps involved in various food preparations.

If any club or Church would like to borrow this article to study, and get ideas from, they may by writing to me.

MACE

The deep orange fleshy layer that grows between the nutmeg and its outer layer is mace. It is dry, yet fleshy and very fragrant. Its flavor resembles nutmeg, but is stronger. It grows in the East Indies and British West Indies, and is golden brown after drying. Although mace had a flavor similar to nutmeg, many cooks consider it finer for flavoring pies, doughnuts, cakes and custards. I like it, especially in butterfingers. Mace improves the flavor of fish sauces and fish, enriches gravy. Welsh rarebit, meat and fish stuffings. It is often used in pound cakes and light fruit cakes because it flavors with out leaving the specks that nutmeg does.

DILL

You probably all know that dill grows annually, in well-drained sandy soil, and thrives best in a sunny location. The greens may be used in tomato soup, creamed cheese, fish butter, and creamed sauce for chicken. The seeds are used mostly in pickled beets and apple pie; the seed heads in pickles and vinegar.

NEXT WEEK'S QUESTION

Is a true or false one. Celery and fish are special brain foods. True or false?

Cracks Behind The Iron Curtain Among the Russian people, stories ridiculing the Communist regime are being circulated on the sly, at the very heart of the concentration camp, says Richard Haner in a December Reader's Digest article condensed from The Free Press. Like this one:

In a Budapest schoolroom little Janos is asked to give an example of a dependent clause. "Our cat has a litter of ten kittens," he says, "all of which are good Communists." The teacher, delighted with his grasp of both grammar and the Party line, urges him to do as well when the government inspector pays his annual visit.

When the inspector arrives the teacher calls confidently on Janos to answer the same question. "Our cat," replies Janos, "has ten kittens, all of which are good Western democrats." The teacher is horrified. "Why, Janos," she exclaims, "ten days ago you said your kittens were all good Communists!" "Yes," says Janos, "but now their eyes are open."

Care to our coffin adds a nail, no doubt. And every grin, so merry, draws one out.

If you would keep the wrinkles out of your face, keep sunshine in your heart.

Time Out FOR Laughs

Jim—Yep, the engagement is off—she won't marry me.

Joe—Why's that? Didn't you tell her about your rich uncle?

Jim—Sure I did. Now she's my aunt.

"I don't care if it is a high-class party," hissed the convention-hating husband; "I'm going to be my natural self."

"Very well," said his wife "but if you start throwing coconuts, I'm going home."

HOME AND SCHOOL
REGIONAL CONFERENCE

Last report was given by Vermilion. They were just organized last month, with the help of Mrs. Tory. Since they had such a large number present—about 145, they decided to break up into three groups: primary, intermediate and high school section.

The next item on the agenda was the presentation of program suggestions by Mrs. Tory. Main points to bear in mind when drawing up a program were as follows: (1) do not become too engrossed by business; (2) do not concentrate on money-making schemes; probably not more than one such project per year. Use the money making scheme to cement the organization together, by working together. (3) Use a theme—the slogan idea. (4) Plan a program for the whole year ahead of time, if possible. (5) Develop member participation.

In developing the program a 7 pt. plan is suggested: health, parent education, school education, understanding of individual differences in children, citizenship recreation, character building through spiritual and ethical influences.

Many types of program presentation were given. The most widely used are: speakers, panels, interviews, question box, dramatizations, sing-song, group discussion demonstrations and exhibits. Sources of material for programs are very extensive. The best are the Provincial and Dominion executives, programme convenors, Parents magazine and Canadian Home and School Magazine, Extension Dept. of Universities, National Film Board and Dept. of Welfare.

During a question pool, answers to problems submitted by another group were given and generally discussed. First question asked was "How do you get members to accept full responsibility?" Answer: (a) Programme must be interesting; (b) whatever action is taken, it must be constructive; (c) Divide organization into groups, each of which should be responsible for one program; (d) Executive should be good planner; (e) Type and theme of meeting planning to suit as many as possible; (f) Form committees with a good worker as head of it.

Question No. 2: How can teachers be encouraged to take a more active part in home-school recreation for school children? Answer to this was given by Chauvin, as follows: (a) Parents should show greater appreciation of teachers efforts; (b) Parents should be present at school gatherings to cheer for their children and show that they are behind them to encourage and help; (c) More recreational facilities could be provided.

How much financial responsibility should Home and School Association assume in equipping the school? was the next question raised. Answer to this was presented by Cesar. Their suggestions were: (a) Actually the Home and School Assoc. should not equip the school as that is the duty of the School Board.

However, the Home and School Association, if so inclined and financially able, could supply so-called "luxury" equipment.

Two questions, by Cesar, were then asked from the floor. How much spending money should children of a certain age get? and How late at night should children of a certain age be allowed to stay out. Different opinions on these questions were expressed.

This brought the afternoon session to a close. The evening session was well attended by more delegates and people of the community. Literature for the benefit of members, Mr. J. C. Ford of Wainwright led a sing-song, with Mrs. Pat McIntee at the piano.

Mr. Bell of the National Film Board outlined the work of his company. He told the Home and School members of the kinds of films made and how they might obtain them. He also suggested certain films and demonstrated his best possible uses to be made of points by showing the film "He Acts His Age".

The panel discussion on The Child's Right to Co-operation between his parents and his teacher was the main topic of the evening. Mr. J. Jacobson, Qu-dance Counsellor of Vermilion, was the chairman, and the other members were Mrs. Fairbridge of Chauvin, Mrs. Laurson of Cesar, Mr. John Woloshyn of Edgerton and Mr. Hugh Tenby of Wainwright. The topic was developed by asking the question "How can we get co-operation between parents and teachers?" and the following points were given in answer:

From the stand point of the parents: (a) Teacher should put himself in the position of the parent and try to see the child from that angle; (b) A new teacher is usually invited to a home and can get his own impressions before he forms any prejudices; (c) Welcome parents at school; (d) Teacher could visit in the homes to discuss good reports, as well as bad ones; (e) Teacher should explain just what she is trying to teach the child.

From the stand point of the parent: (a) Parents could ask for a set time to visit the school, rather than to drop in unexpectedly; (b) Parents like to see their children "show-off", so would like an invitation for special occasions.

(c) Parents should not criticize the teacher in the presence of the pupils; (d) Parents should realize that a teacher deals with probably 25 or 30 children and not just one child; (e) Parents might see that teachers have a good social life; (f) Parents must realize that the child learns outside of the school as well, and should try to build a good wholesome community; (g) Lowering of general moral conduct in the community in general makes the work of the teacher harder; (h) Teachers wish to belong to group, to be accepted socially; (i) Parents could demand higher grants from senior governments for education, and so help to make the teachers lot a better one.

Mr. Jacobson, in summing up the main points of the discussion said that one word would cover the whole situation—and that is "understanding".

In closing the conference Mrs. Tory expressed her appreciation for the co-operation of the delegates and members. It is encouraging to the executive to know that parents and teachers are so willing to work together for the welfare of our children.

ACCIDENTS REDUCED BY DRIVER TRAINING PROGRAMS

Greater safety on the highways is receiving special attention from the Alberta Motor Association which is sponsoring its advocacy of high school driver training courses. This subject was scheduled for further discussion at the annual meeting of the organization in Calgary on Nov. 18.

Various cities in Alberta have inaugurated driver training centres through the sponsorship of branches of the A.M.A. in Edmonton, the public school board is co-operating in an arrangement on an extra-curricular basis for school students.

From the general indications in Alberta that driver training is a basic element in safe driving, it is felt that the movement should have the sympathetic interest of the department of education. Nevertheless, no move has been made by provincial authorities to include driver training courses in high school work.

Officials of the A.M.A. have emphasized that experiences in various states south of the border, have proven without doubt that motor accidents have been substantially reduced and lives saved when driver training was a compulsory part of the curriculum.

Alberta cannot afford to neglect this vital need any longer. More and still more safety on the highways is a "must" with the traffic volume continuing to increase, and hazards multiplied in consequence.

To keep from falling, keep climbing.

Government Business Is Your Business

Education -
The Key To Progress

Your right to know is the door to a better economic, social and cultural life; and education is the key to that door.

It is the function of the Department of Education to keep abreast of modern trends in education, discarding impractical or outdated methods and ideas, in favor of standards and achievements to enable young people to take their place in society, confident in their own abilities and able through training to attain their goal.

Activities of the Department of Education include: development, operation or supervision of:

SCHOOL DIVISIONS: Large school divisions have been organized for efficiency of operation, to provide pupils with better facilities and to promote uniformity of opportunity for all. To each is assigned a superintendent to assist and advise trustees and teachers.

TEACHER TRAINING: Teachers are trained at the University of Alberta. A Board of Teacher Education and Certification administers the University and the Minister. Teacher qualifications have been substantially raised in recent years. To assist school boards in the establishment of a Teacher Retirement Fund substantial contributions are made amounting in 1949-51 to $565,000.

AUDIO-VISUAL AIDS: This branch of the Department has built up a large library of sound films, silent films, filmstrips and slides available for classroom use. Free. These cover a variety of topics in the Alberta School Curriculum. Circulation last school year exceeded 22,000 items, chiefly films.

CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOL BRANCH: This branch takes education to children in remote areas and those physically unable to attend regular schools. It also serves schools without teachers, and adults seeking self-improvement. Courses include full academic subjects, business law, bookkeeping and shorthand.

SPECIAL EDUCATIONAL SERVICES: Deaf and blind children are educated in special schools. Substantially free of charge. Special classroom for children with defective vision, impaired hearing and other handicaps are generously supported. The Department also operates the facilities of Technology and Art in Calgary, the Home Aides School, the Health and Recreation Program, and various projects under Canadian Vocational Training.

SCHOOL BOOK BRANCH: During its period of operation this branch has distributed over six million school books, either free or at a minimum cost.

AVERAGE SALARY OF TEACHERS EMPLOYED BY SCHOOL DIVISIONS, 1949-50:
$511.14
COST OF PUBLIC SCHOOL EDUCATION PER CHILD, 1949-50: $149-$164.

looked Christ's mission of the rights of the individual. As I understand it he taught that every individual as a new creation has the right to develop along his own peculiar bent as long as he allows the other fellow the same right.

The thing that is not generally recognized today is whether the group shall serve the individual or the individual the group.

This discussion is carried out under the name of Communism or Socialism. The difference between a Socialist and a Communist is that a Communist is a Socialist in a hurry.

Both these lunatics are urging that a group called the Government take charge of the affairs of us individuals in the belief that the group knows better what I want than I do myself. In other words the group has a monopoly.

Now a monopoly whether Government or private is still a monopoly with the same disastrous results.

For example take the Government liquor monopoly. It adulterates the individual's liquor by adding water but will not let the milkman have the same privilege. It charges him excessive profits in order to secure revenue while the non-user of liquor stands back and applauds because he escapes that same taxation. It makes it a punishable offence to stand up in a beer parlour and drink a mouthful of beer. It makes it a punishable offence to go around an extra block in going from a liquor store to his home, etc. etc.

Now take the private monopoly known as a Trades Union. The members go on strike and tie up all railway transportation and to meet their demands we consumers have to do with less that they might get more. Not only that but in the recent strike in order to get a train to carry some urgently needed supplies in Northern Ontario, it was necessary to get the consent of a labor leader. This is simply a monopoly.

It seems that we are unable to distinguish between stealing and legal stealing. Some time ago I received a letter from one of the big unions of the Protestant church which supports Socialism, informing me that Sir Stafford Cripps was one of the finest examples of a Christian and that his idea of a Christian was different than mine. For six months Cripps denied regularly that there was to be no devaluation of the British pound. His last denial was on a Saturday and then on Sunday he announced the devaluation. I call that lying. On Saturday a man with a pound had 48.6 of the coinage which at one time was considered a very serious offence. In other words we consumers have had 48 cents of our purchasing power stolen from us—of course quite legal.

I am reminded of the Sunday School teacher who was telling her class about the bad lamb that wandered from the flock and was eaten by a bad wolf. Now she said "if that lamb had not been bad and had come home with the rest what would have happened to it? One boy spoke up "why we would have eaten it". I do not suppose it made much difference to the lamb who did the eating.

Now I hope you can see that between these two monopolies Trades Union and Bankers we are in a mess and if we are ever going to get out of the mess we must break them up. The world is simply a debating of the coinage.

Yours in distress,
CONSUMER.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

We had hoped this week to announce the opening of the Spray Lakes Power Plant. However, this is not possible because of an unforeseen incident which happened last Saturday.

Those of you who made the trip into the Spray Lakes country will recall the location of the canal which followed the side of the mountain between the pond below Three Sisters dam and Walcott's Pass which is at the top of the long hill. The cause of the slide was an unpredictable movement of the substrate under the canal foundation.

The mishap occurred on Saturday, November 25th, just a few hours before water from Spray Lakes was to be turned into the Spray power plant's turbine for its preliminary run.

The delay in getting the Spray plant on the line occurred at a most unfortunate time because of the pressing need for the additional electric power to the Spray plant, which was to be used to assist in carrying the greatly increased winter load of the Community's system.

Everything possible is being done by the Company to rectify the damage quickly in order to get Spray plant into operation with as least delay. Men, supplies and equipment are being rushed to the site. Remedial work has already started. The canal will be re-routed by way of a flume past the slide area to avoid the possibility of any further difficulty.

There is a very great likelihood that rationing to some degree may be necessary between now and Christmas over the peak load period. However, if we are able to obtain full co-operation from all our customers in cutting down their load for the two-hour period each evening Monday through Friday from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m., it may not be necessary to restrictively ration anyone.

The situation is serious. Anything you can do to assist us in reducing peak load demand between 4:30 and 6:30 p.m. Monday through Friday from now until Christmas will be very much appreciated. No restriction of use is required or necessary after 6:30 on any day, nor is any restriction required on Saturdays or Sundays. It is just a matter of everyone reducing his or her demand slightly so that there will be enough for the neighbors.

We are proud of our record during the war and since, in that despite the fact our load increased from 600 hundred one, fifty-two million kilowatt hours per year in 1940 to five hundred and thirty-seven million kilowatt hours in 1949 (over 400% increase), no rationing has been necessary. Such has not been the case in most other provinces in Canada and in many parts of the United States where, in many cases, drastic rationing has had to be resorted to. We would like to maintain our record and with a little help from our customers, we will be able to do so.

Thank you for your interest in this matter and we need to say, the Spray announcement ads must be held up until the Spray is ready to go into operation.

Yours very truly,
W. E. ROSS,
Calgary Power Ltd.

Improve 1,878 Miles Of Alberta Highway

Alberta is making improvements to 1,878 miles of highways this year, according to information which officials of the Alberta Motor Association have received from the provincial department of public works.

The program includes 54 miles of asphalt surfacing, which will give Alberta a total of 1,180 miles when this year's program is completed. The program also includes 55 miles of new grade and 55 miles of widening, along with 800 miles of graveling of main highways.

The public works department also plans to improve many of the 7,600 wooden bridges over highways in the province. These will be replaced by concrete of steel and concrete.

Involving a large outlay, new steel highway bridges are being built in the Athabasca, Devon and Beverly districts. During this year, maintenance work on existing bridges cost the province $1,980,000.

About 3,000 men are employed by the Alberta department of public works each year. In addition, thousands are employed by contractors on government projects.

APATHY IS DANGEROUS

It is not the Communist fifth column which is our greatest danger here in Canada. It is plain, every-day indifference, as attested by election figures from coast to coast both in urban centres and at remote country points.

Cold Weather
Lubrication Of Tractors

Unless tractors are started and operated in a warm building during the winter, the rate of wear of bearings, cylinder walls, and other working parts is very much more rapid in winter than in summer. To help offset this rapid wear, extreme care in operation should be practised. The following points, suggested by C. A. Cheshire, Agricultural Engineer, Alberta Department of Agriculture, should be standard procedure.

1. The crankcase must be drained at least once every thirty hours of tractor operation, and more often if this time is made up of numerous short intervals between which the engine cools down.
The engine must be drained while the oil is hot, preferably after a long period of operation.

2. Don't idle the engine to warm it up, and don't idle the engine outside during low temperatures.

3. Cover the radiator front to reduce the warm-up time required.

4. See that the thermostats are operating correctly, and note the temperature at which they operate. This should be high, 160 or 180 degrees F., depending on the type of anti-freeze being used.

5. Clean the crank case breather inlet and outlet, and check periodically.

6. Clean and change oil in the air cleaner, regularly.

7. Make sure that the oil in the crank case, transmission and differential is the grade and viscosity recommended for low temperature operation of your tractor.

8. Follow strictly the maintenance recommendations for ignition system, carburetion and compression.

In life as in cards, the glory is not so much in the winning as in playing a poor hand well.

Gift Edge W.I. Meet

Gift Edge W.I. held their November meeting at the home of Mrs. L.
Toussaint with eight members present.
The meeting opened with "O Canada" followed by the Creed and community singing.

The Secretary then read the minutes and financial statement which were adopted by the president. The correspondence was then read and discussed.
The meeting was then turned over to Miss B. Reed, Home Economist, who gave a very interesting and useful sewing demonstration.

Mrs. Gardiner gave a contest which was won by Mrs. L. Babb.
The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Harry Olson on December 14th. The roll call to be a boy or present for the Children's Home. Pot luck lunch to be served.

At the close of the meeting lunch was served by the hostess.

son is having an enforced holiday.

We understand Mr. H. Pfleger is making good progress at the University Hospital Edmonton and we hope to see him home soon.

Mrs. Morrison celebrated her 82nd birthday last Wednesday afternoon when the immediate neighbor ladies and kiddies visited her. Beside bringing gifts and best wishes for many more happy birthdays, they provided lunch.

Interior Decorating

The right stuffing in a chicken, turkey or duck can do much to bring the roasted bird to perfection. On the other hand if the stuffing is too highly seasoned or of poor texture it will spoil the delicacy of any poultry.

Bread is usually the chief ingredient of stuffing and bread, while during cooking, so care must be taken not to fill the cavity too full or the dressing will be too solid. One cup of dressing for every pound of poultry is a good guide. It is always better to make too much than too little. Any extra dressing may be put into a greased baking dish and heated in the oven beside the bird for the last forty-five minutes before dinner. The extra dressing goes well on bone-picking day when every crumb in the bird has disappeared at the first sitting.

Consistency is important. Too much liquid will make a soggy heavy dressing. With too little liquid the result will be a crumbly and uninteresting mixture. A dressing may also be used as an extender. A boned stuffed shoulder of pork or a "Mock Duck" of lean beef will both yield many more servings because of the bread dressing. A meat loaf which in itself is an excellent meat extender may be made to go even farther if a layer of dressing is put between two layers of the minced meat mixture.

These recipes for stuffings are worth keeping on the special file. They have all been tested in "Canada's Kitchens" by the home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture.

Cranberry Stuffing

- 1 cup cranberries
- 1/3 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons fruit juice
- 4 cups medium dry bread crumbs
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt

1/4 teaspoon marjoram or poultry seasoning
1/4 cup sliced celery
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Put cranberries through food chopper using coarse blade. Mix with sugar and fruit juice and allow to stand until sugar is dissolved. Mix bread crumbs, salt, seasoning, celery and parsley. Combine with cranberries, blending well. Yield: about 5 cups dressing. Pie cherries or apricots may be substituted for cranberries in the above recipe but 1/2 cup sugar should then be omitted.

NOTE: This stuffing, using the sour cherries is particularly rich in duck.

Celery Stuffing

- (a crumbly dressing)
- 2 cups finely diced celery
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1/4 cup minced onion
- 1 1/2 tablespoons butter
- 1/4 cup fat
- 8 cups lightly packed, soft stale bread crumbs
- 4 teaspoons poultry seasoning
- 1 1/2 tablespoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Simmer celery in the boiling water for 15 to 20 minutes or until tender. Drain. Measure liquid and add water, if necessary to make 1/2 cup. Cook onion in butter and fat over low heat until tender but not brown. Mix crumbs and seasonings together. Add celery, celery water, fat and onion and mix thoroughly with a fork. Yield: sufficient dressing to stuff a six or seven pound chicken. Part of dressing may be baked in individual muffin tins, if desired.

We Don't Want This Boarder

Let's keep the rats out of Alberta, urges W. Lobay, Supervisor of Crop Protection, Alberta Department of Agriculture. That long-time enemy of man, the rat, is looking with longing eyes across our western border and waiting for a chance to step in and make himself at home. The brown or Norway rat is one of the worst pests in the world. It destroys property, ruins the pantry and food warehouse, and is a serious menace to health, agriculture and industry. It spreads bubonic plague, intestinal diseases, trichinosis, and other diseases. It destroys grain, poultry, and merchandise.

Twenty dollars a year is a lot of money to pay for the privilege of keeping a rat alive on your premises. Yet twenty dollars a year is the estimate of the damage done by each and every rat where these pests gain a foothold. And they are not content to remain alone. One pair of rats may increase to fifty by the end of the year. At this rate of increase, damage and financial loss can mount quickly. In the United States, rat damage $90,000,000 bushels of grain yearly. The total annual rat damage in that country is reported to be over two billion dollars.

We have already found one colony of rats in Alberta. That was on a farm near Alaskan last summer. Fortunately they were located and destroyed before they could do much damage, but this invasion is just a sign of things to come unless everybody remains on the alert. Organization for rat control is needed, and this organization is now underway. Every municipality, hamlet, village, town and city is asked by the Alberta Department of Agriculture to appoint a local pest control officer who will work closely with the district agriculturalist in an effort to see that every rat is destroyed as it appears in the province.

If you see or suspect the presence of rats on your premises report to your Windbreaks and Shelterbelts. The value of any farm in the Prairie Provinces can be increased by planned windbreaks for its fields and pastures. Now is the time to plan a tree planting program in 1951.

Many Advantages. Tree plantings add to the beauty and comfort of the farm home. They check the wind and moderate the extremes of heat and cold. Extensive farm surveys and studies have shown clearly that adequate windbreaks reduce costs of heating buildings and feeding livestock. In summer, rows of trees help to keep the topsoil of gardens and fields from blowing away, and protect crops from hot, drying winds. Besides, windbreaks and shelterbelts encourage, protect and furnish food for bird life. They greatly enhance the value of any farm property.

Plan Now. In general, Spring is the best time to plant trees. It is, however, essential to make a definite and complete plan of any tree planting program months in advance of planting time. Plans must be made now if trees are to be obtained for planting in 1951. Discuss the matter with your Agricultural Representative or District Agriculturalist this Fall. He can give you the best tree-planting advice obtainable. Furthermore, all the information you can from successful growers of trees in your own district. Above all, don't fail to write to the Dominion Forest Nursery Station, Indian Head, Saskatchewan, for information on tree planting on the prairies, and with respect to its policy of distributing to farmers, free of charge, certain trees and shrubs for farm windbreaks and shelterbelts. Tree planting is not expensive. Comfort, pride and pleasure are the dividends to be derived from the establishment of a well-planned windbreak or shelterbelt. Get your tree planting program started now; don't put it off for another year.

district agriculturalist or pest control officer right away. Talk to him about what you can do to keep your district clear of rats. The best way to control this pest is to deal with it now before it becomes established.

Mr. Douglas said, "We are encouraged by the response so far, which is a little better than at the same period last year. However, we have a long way to go yet, and we urge everyone who has not yet sent in a contribution to do so at once, so that we may have our objective by Christmas."

A COTTAGE BUILT FOR TWO

I've no wish to live in Massena grand or stately homes in other lands. Just a cottage built for two. That's all I want, my friends are few. And when my daily work is done my tired feet will wander home. Supper will be waiting there. Slipper near an easy chair. A smiling face I long to see. Waiting patiently for me. May that happy day come soon. I'm so lonely in my little back room.

Mrs. Harold Deville and Donald were Edmonton visitors last week. Mrs. T. Ball has gone to Edmonton for the winter to live with her daughter Mrs. John D. Gault.

We wish to congratulate the Students' Union on their initiative in the printing of their paper "The Spectator". It is now on sale on the streets. All expenses are paid for by local advertising.

There was a good crowd and the booths were crowded with everyone doing justice to the marvelous lunches. Tickets were sold on a cashless credit spread and the draw was made at 5 p.m. and the lucky winner was Mrs. J. Mason.

Mr. McKinnon had the misfortune to have his right hand badly hurt. While fixing the engine of the light plant his hand got caught in the belt. His finger was broken and two others crushed. Luckily the engine stopped or it might have been more serious.

Several McLaughlins felt motivated to Vermilion to attend the Old Timer Fiddler's Contest on Tuesday night. Mr. V. Bush, who had won first last year, came along. He still retains the cup he won last year by post.

A meeting of the curlers was held on Tuesday night and was fairly well attended. Mr. E. Harrison is caretaker and is busy on the ice, and it won't be long until the rocks begin to slide. I understand the skating rink is being flooded also. It's a long time since the children have had a rink. I guess the parents have been too busy curling other years to bother about ice for the children.

McLaughlin Hamlet has been requesting the opening of the Cafe which has been closed on account of lack of help. Mr. Lincoln and Fong have spent considerable time and money in preparing a good up-to-date Cafe which would do justice to a larger place. They also are so obliging to open the Cafe for the benefit of community welfare without personal remuneration.

Let's be decent and patronize this progressive move. Good luck Bill and Jimmy.

Malmouski-Rollins Wedding Performed

Ruth Morton Baptist Church was the scene of a very pretty double ring wedding ceremony on Friday, November 15th, performed by Rev. M. C. Phillips assisted by Rev. D. L. Curtis of Vancouver, when Mary youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Malmouski, and Elmer Judson Rollins second son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Judson Rollins of Grenfell, Sask. exchanged marriage vows.

The bride given in marriage by her father wore a white satin gown with pleated puffed sleeves, the neckline had a lace insert fashioned with pearls. Her veil was held in place with orange blossoms. She carried a white Bible bound with satin streamers with a corsage of red roses on the Bible. Her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls, gift from the groom.

The bridesmaids Misses Mona and Ethel Higgins also looked very charming in pink and blue tulle dresses with an off the shoulder neckline effect. They carried colorful bouquets of colored chrysanthemums and carnations.

Alvin Rollins brother of the groom, performed the duties of the best man. The ushers were Mr. Ernest Peters, Abraham Burbacker and Stanley Wilbee all of Vancouver.

Mrs. H. C. Phillips was organist and during the signing of the register Mr. Gus Ewert sang "Oh Perfect Love". Mrs. Malmouski chose for her daughter's wedding a navy crepe dress with grey accessories. Her corsage was pink roses with split carnations.

The reception was held at Cairns' Caters, where about a 100 guests gathered. After lunch was served a short program was held.

For going away the bride chose a blue wool dress with navy top coat and accessories. The couple then left for a honeymoon trip to Seattle and Portland.

London-New York In Six Hours With First Jet Airliner

Leaving London at noon and arriving at Idlewild airport after New Yorkers have had lunch is the prospect for fast Atlantic crossings when Britain's "Comet," the first jet liner, gets into transoceanic service four years hence.

James Dugan, describing the new de Havilland ship in a December Reader's Digest article, says the Comet cruises at 450 m.p.h., will make the London-New York run in six hours, at an altitude of eight miles. To passengers on the east-west trip, the sun will appear to stand almost still, as they will be traveling west nearly as fast as the earth is rolling east.

A Canadian counterpart, the Avro Canada Jetliner, will operate between major North American cities, the Digest article points out. The first Canadian-built Jetliner took off from Ontario's Malton airport a few days after the de Havilland Comet's maiden flight in England. A. V. Roe Canada is now building its second Jetliner with 96 per cent Canadian staff.

The account, condensed from Raza, says England's Comet is about the size of the Constellation. Four jet engines are enclosed in the wings; between each pair is housing for a Spirit rocket engine which can be used to accelerate takeoffs. For 12 seconds the two Spirit can boost the plane's horsepower to 4,400—nearly a quarter as much as the total horsepower of the huge passenger liner Queen Mary. Although about 300 m.p.h. faster than the nearest American competitor, the Comet will not be an extra-fare plane. In fact, its economy of operation may bring lower fares.

Twenty-five thousand blueprints went into the Comet's design before the plane was approved in theory. The de Havilland Company was so confident of the blueprint that it accepted government orders for 18 Comets and guaranteed a price before even a single prototype was built for testing.

Your Christmas Tree Is A Fire Hazard

Christmas, the traditional season of happiness and goodwill, is marred in hundreds of homes each year by Christmas tree fires. Warning against this hazard, in The Reader's Digest for December, Donovan Fitzpatrick and David A. Weiss state: "The outstanding Christmas killer is the evergreen tree." Last year 63 people burned to death in Christmas fires. Hundreds are injured and more than a million dollars' worth of property is destroyed, each year in the United States and Canada.

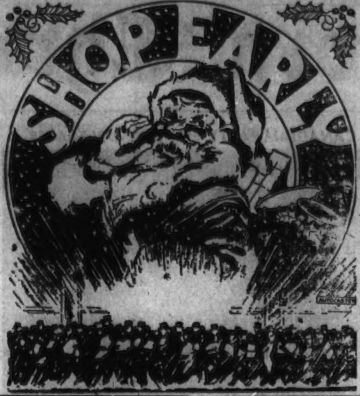

The Digest article, condensed from The Rotarian, says that many people believe certain chemicals will render a tree fireproof or fire-resistant. Underwriters Laboratories engineers, however, say they have yet to test a solution they can recommend. A fireproofing "paint," tried on his own tree by an officer of the National Bureau of Fire Underwriters, did make the tree fire-resistant but gave it "such a sticky brown appearance" that its beauty was destroyed. One preparation, long recommended by government experts, has since been found to lessen rather than increase the tree's resistance to ignition.

Faulty wiring of lights is a notorious cause of Christmas-tree fires. The article urges that wiring be checked for worn spots and loose connections, that no electric bulb touch a branch and that lights be turned off when the family leaves the house or retires for the night.

Other means of avoiding a Christmas tree tragedy: Keep the tree outside until a few days before Christmas and, once it is inside, keep it moist by cutting the trunk on a diagonal and placing the base in water. Never use lighted candles. Remove accumulations of gift wrappings. Use only fireproof decorations, never cotton or paper. Get rid of the tree by New Year's Day.

Shift From Farms Greatly Deplored By Farm Veteran

INGERBOLL, Ont. — Patrick M. Deane, a former Ontario agriculture minister, considers the drift of young people from the farms to the cities a threat to the Canadian standard of life. Mr. Deane, one-time farm economics teacher who owns a 33-acre farm south of here, put it this way in an interview:

"All our civilizations stem from the land. The farmer is a stronger and more vigorous type of citizen than the city-dweller. Farm people are more religious and God-fearing. The average of churchgoers among them is much higher."

"Consequently, if the farm population is persistently reduced, the moral strength of a country is reduced. And the population becomes less hardy and virile. If you were to take a city and build a wall about it, even though it were continually supplied with food, the population would die out within four generations."

What's the answer to the problem of young farmers being lured off the land by the bright lights of the city? Mr. Deane confesses that he can't offer any pat solution. But with regard to the farms losing labor to industrial plants in the cities he thinks a profit-sharing or bonus system might win back some workers for the farm.

If another war comes, difficulties of increasing farm production may be more acute than they were during the Second World War, Mr. Deane thinks. The Canadian economy has become more industrialized, people in general have more money and, in his opinion, the only way of meeting the demand for farm labor might be a system of labor direction like the one used in England during the 1939-45 conflict.

Strategic Materials From U.S., Western Europe Go To Russia

The war potential of Russia will have been increased, during 1950 alone, by almost a billion dollars' worth of strategic materials from outside, in legal exports from Western Europe and in smuggled shipments, many direct from the United States. So state O. E. Armstrong and Frederic Soudern, Jr. in a December Reader's Digest article condensed from the Washington Post.

Much of the material from Europe comes from factories rebuilt and retooled with the help of ECA dollars. England, France, Belgium, Switzerland and Western Germany continue to provide ball bearings, lathes, drill presses and special steels with which the Soviet plants at Magnitogorsk and elsewhere turn out guns, tanks and warplanes.

European nations receiving EAC aid are promising to co-operate in stopping delivery of Marshall Plan goods to any country known to be reshipping them to Communist territory, but the promises have not been kept, the authors state. Most of the Western European countries have long-standing trade agreements with Russia and its satellite, and are accustomed to exporting certain goods and importing needed commodities.

This open trade is sanctioned by treaties and is duly reported to the United States. But the Russians have other sources of supply, unaccounted and illegal, and to keep these sources in business Soviet agents commit bribery and even murder. Irving Roca, an American official of EAC in Austria, was slain two years ago because his investigations had disclosed the key Communists in Vienna who ran Russia's undercover trade with the West.

The West-East smuggling operation is probably the biggest in the history of this ancient business, the authors say. In every major industrial city of Europe, buyers subsidized by Russian funds serve the needs of Moscow. The U.S. High Commission in Germany estimates that more than $200,000,000 worth of highly critical products are annually smuggled into Russia from Western Germany alone. The West German customs and frontier guard, hopelessly understaffed, can barely manage to inspect one freight car in 50 crossing into Eastern Germany. Some shipments are sneaked over the border under false labels, others are carried in heavily armed trucks with which the frontier guards "rarely choose to tangle."

Some 30 U.S. exporting concerns have been punished in the past two years for misrepresenting the final destinations of strategic-material shipments. In the same period, the article says, $18,000,000 worth of critical goods have been stopped, en route to Russia, by the U.S. Office of Industry and Commerce. But OIC is undermanned; its members themselves believe they have missed more illegal shipments than they have caught.

Little Things That Make Big Difference

In the profession of homemaking it is very often the little things that count. The little savings gained in careful buying often add up to a considerable amount in a year. Little details in food preparation often make the difference between a meal that is really enjoyable and one that is eaten merely to appease hunger. The parcel or the daily way in which a plain food is served will lift it from the ordinary into the special class. It is well known that we "eat with our eyes." Certainly appearance enhances appetite.

The home economist of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture offers these suggestions for planning better meals.

Buying
Keep nutritional values in mind in making your food purchases. Price by no means indicates food value. Keep up with the current food situation. Listen to the radio and watch the newspaper for food information and market reports.

Food foods which are most plentiful. Make sure you need what you buy and that you are getting good value.

Buy by weight or quantity... never ask for "so many cents worth."

Compare prices and quality of bulk and packaged foods. The former are usually cheaper but often require more care in storing.

Buy by grade when possible and buy the quality best suited to your needs.

Read the labels on canned and packaged foods. The label tells you "what" and "how much" you are buying.

Meal Planning
Avoid monotony in meals by varying the ways you cook and serve food. Follow up-to-date cooking techniques for good-tasting, attractive-looking meals... usually a well-balanced meal is an appetizing one.

Vary colour, texture and temperature of foods in the meal. Colour attracts the eye and adds interest to the meal. Avoid clashes of colour... for example do not serve beets, tomatoes and radishes together. Texture contrast between soft and crisp foods often means the difference between a mediocre and a superb meal. Serve hot foods hot; cold foods cold. Create contrast in the meal by interspersing cold dishes with a hot one or by serving something cold, in the way of a salad or dessert, in a meal otherwise composed of hot dishes.

Cooking Hints
Prepare and cook food carefully using reliable recipes and measuring all ingredients accurately with standard measuring cups and spoons.

Season well. Seasonings should bring out the natural flavours of a food, not mask it, but judicious seasoning makes the simplest food a treat.

Cook cheese at a low temperature. High temperature toughens proteins and therefore makes cheese less easily digested. When making cheese sauce, add cheese at the last and cook only until melted.

Any uncooked mixture of cheese, eggs and milk to be cooked in the oven should be oven-poached, that is, placed in a pan of hot water, in a moderate oven. Scalloped or other cheese dishes made with cooked foods should be baked for only sufficient time to thorough by heat the mixture.

To use all-purpose flour in place of pastry flour, allow two tablespoons less per cup.

The following amounts of starches and flours have the same thickening power: 1 tablespoon cornstarch; 3 tablespoons all-purpose flour; 1 tablespoon plus 1/4 teaspoon potato or rice flour or wheat starch.

To avoid lumping in making sauces or gravies and in thickening soups, first mix the flour, cornstarch, etc. with either a little cold liquid the sugar or the creamed or melted fat, then combine with the liquid and cook, stirring until mixture thickens.

Let roasts and poultry stand in a warm place for a short time before carving. This allows the meat to absorb the juices and makes for more economical and easier carving.

Before folding egg whites into cake or puddings, beat until the whites come out of the sugar called for in the recipe. One tablespoon sugar per egg white is a good proportion.

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE
PROGRESSING SATISFACTORILY

Christmas Seal receipts for Edmonton and District at the end of the second week of the campaign total $18,111. It was announced today by H. S. Douglas, chairman of the Kinmen Club Christmas Seal committee. The objective is $75,000.

Christmas Seal funds raised in Alberta are spent in Alberta, except for 10 per cent which goes to the National office for seal sales, supplies, educational material and national administration. They help to provide free chest X-rays through the Christmas Seal mobile units, X-ray equipment for hospitals, to give routine chest X-rays to all admissions, rehabilitation of ex-patients and a widespread educational program.

There are still probably a thousand unsuspected active cases of tuberculosis in Alberta. Your Christmas Seal contribution will help to find these "missing" casualties but only if you send it now to the Tuberculosis Association. If you haven't already sent it, do it now.

RARE HONOR COMES TO EDGERTON

Miss Billie McBride Presented with Governor General's Medal For Highest Marks in Grade IX in Wainwright-Provoost Division.

The Edgerton High School attended in a body the dance sponsored by the Students' Union of Wainwright High School. This was held last Friday night, Dec. 1st in the new auditorium, which was decorated nicely with a "tuturial motif". We all had a very good time. However, we must admit that we were a bit nervous of the fine school and gymnasium that Wainwright is so fortunate in obtaining. We also wish to congratulate the student body of Wainwright High School for providing us with a fine time, for their splendid organization, and for serving a delicious lunch. We hope that when our turn comes, we'll be able to emulate the fine example set us.

During the dance we were privileged to witness a fine presentation ceremony. We were doubly pleased because one of the Edgerton students was the recipient of an annual honor in the form of the Governor General's Medal for having obtained the highest standing in Grade IX. Congratulations of last June in the Wainwright-Provoost School Divisions. The recipient was none other than Miss Billie McBride, age 15, of the town of Edgerton.

In his remarks before the presentation, Mr. Simonsen, Supt. of Wainwright School Division, outlined the history of this annual award, which goes to a boy or girl receiving the highest marks in the two divisions mentioned above. The aim is to reward and encourage pupils of real ability to develop their talents to full fruition. Strengthening the fact that mental ability by itself was not a sure means to success in life, Mr. Simonsen went on to point out that hard work, perseverance, and personality were just as essential. Continuing, Mr. Simonsen was happy to inform the students at the dance that Miss McBride possessed all of the above qualities. She is not only talented but a hard worker. Her interests are many and varied. She goes to Wainwright once a week for her music lessons; she is an active member of the G.O.I.F.; she takes keen interest in the Edgerton Club; she helps out in the work of community. Our congratulations, Billie.

Mr. Simonsen further mentioned that ability, to be properly developed, must have direction. A part of the credit goes to the parents, who have a direct hand in shaping the pupil's school progress, in their appreciation of what the child hopes to achieve, and in their encouragement of the pupil in his or her pursuit of that goal. Certain a honor.

Mr. H. Belik spent a few days in the district.

The gravel gang again tried to do some travelling but have had tough luck and hauled only one load having smashed up at cat while loading.

Mr. KJall Ostfalten left for the bus camp at Prince Rupert, B.C.

Mr. Thorpe's threatening outfit wound up on Saturday for the 1950 season. They'll have quite a few acres left to do in the spring.

A fair crowd attended the whist drive held at Pelican Saturday, Dec. 2nd. The following were the prize winners: Ladies first Mrs. Wm. Leskow, 2nd Lena Belik, 3rd Beth Belik, 4th Mrs. Fred Leskow, 2nd Gray Hill and 3rd Harry Russell.

Pete Bell and R. Belanger attended the W.F.B. meeting held at Wainwright on November 25th.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Lacey and Mrs. L. Alwood motored to Edmonton last Wednesday.

Mr. Norman Pickard, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Belik accompanied Everett Tuff to the F.U.A. Annual Convention at Calgary.

There will be a dance at Pelican on Dec. 15. Everybody welcome, bring an extra friend along, the floor is good, also the music.
